Contents

Issue 291 April 2016

COVER IMAGE BY COLWIN WAY
See page 27 for part 1 of making a Smokers bow Windsor chair

Projects

14 Desk clock
Ian Woodford recreates an antique desk clock in his own design

27 Smokers bow Windsor chair – part 1
Colwin Way shares his passion for constructing chairs

33 A triptych in oak
Andy Coates uses scrap pieces of oak to form his turned triptych

51 An emerging bowl from English elm
Bob Chapman shows how he makes an emerging bowl which appears to be half in and half out of a solid block of elm

61 Split decision
Chris Grace rarely refuses the offer of free wood, but then has to decide just what to do with it...

69 A hybrid ballpoint pen
Walter Hall introduces us to hybrid pens made up from a collection of components

84 Simple pen
Rick Rich shows you how to create a simple, low-cost pen

Techniques

21 How to successfully part off spindle work
Richard Findley takes a look at the best way to part off your spindle work

45 Drive types – pros and cons
This month, Philip Greenwood looks at the pros and cons of drive types

75 Turning small things
Kurt Hertzog looks at the equipment and processes required for turning on a small scale

Features

39 Looking back on 50 years of turning – part 2
Ray Key observes changes in the world of turning from 1981 to 1990

89 In the workshop with... Shaun & Jessica Stacey
We meet a father and daughter turning team in their idyllic lake-side workshop

104 Featured Artist
Jay Shepard talks about how he harnesses light in this turned artwork

Community

3 Leader
Mark Baker introduces you to this month's issue

6 Community news
We bring you the latest news from the world of woodturning and important dates for your diary

10 Community letters
Here are just a few letters the Editor has recieved from you, the readers

12 Giveaway
To celebrate 25 years of Woodturning magazine, a string of the industry's top names are giving away items from their product ranges. This month we have six revolving live centre and cone centre sets from Robust Woodturning Tools to give away

57 Next issue
Find out what's in store for next month

Kit & Tools

94 Kit & tools
A mixture of press releases showing the latest tools and products on the market

NEWS, LATEST PRODUCTS, MAGAZINE UPLOADS & EVENTS
can all be found on www.woodworkersinstitute.com. These all appear on the magazine homepage and you can see a bigger selection by scrolling down the page and clicking on the individual stories. We also have an extensive online archive for you to browse

Subscribers!
Turn to page 73 for subscription special offers and you could save 30%!