25th anniversary giveaway

To celebrate 25 years of Woodturning magazine, a string of the industry's top names are giving away items from their product ranges. This month, we have 20 ToolPost smocks to give away

The ProDesign woodturner's smocks are available in a range of chest sizes from 32in to 58in with a generous 6in oversize allowance to ensure that a sweater can be worn underneath them, in comfort, while retaining adequate room to allow free movement. The key design features that distinguish these ProDesign smocks from others include: a padded, smooth-lined collar, cut low in front to increase neck comfort but high in the rear for draught-proofing; a double-ended plastic heavy duty zipper that will not scratch workpieces but makes 'comfort breaks' more comfortable and has a hefty tag for fumble-free operation; cuffs that have Velcro closures for a snug fit and to eliminate flapping sleeves, but which are also elasticated so that even in the most full-stretch position movement is never constricted.

The inevitable need for storage of handkerchiefs, polishing cloths and other accoutrements is taken care of with a pair of generous patch pockets strategically located on the rear of the jacket where they are easy to reach but do not fill with shavings as you work – and there's even a double pencil pocket on the left sleeve too!

The fabric from which the smocks are manufactured is a heavy duty cotton cloth in a 'natural' colour, which approximates very well the colour of many common native timbers.
